Companies or organisations who do not meet the legal and usual commercial, economic or moral operating criteria shall not be authorised to exhibit. These criteria shall be evaluated by the organising committee.

Requests to register from companies currently insolvent may be refused. The fact of completing a request for registration does not imply acceptance of the organiser who reserves the right to refuse a request for participation without justification. Under no circumstances shall such refusal give rise to the payment of damages.

2.2 FINAL ADMISSION

The show will be held under covered halls.

Registration shall be final followed confirmation from the organiser. Registration will be officially notified and is final and binding on the participant. In the event the exhibitor cancels after the final deadline for payment of the invoice balance indicated below or failure to occupy the stand, all rental fees shall remain forfeited to the organiser. The notification of admission involve obligation for the exhibitor to pay by the deadlines, the amount of participation fee: 40 % of the total amount inc. VAT on registration, the balance is to be paid before 27 September 2019.

In the event of late payment, the organiser shall send a registered notice to pay failing which participation will be cancelled. The organiser will then be released from its obligations event if the stand, initially allocated to the defaulting exhibitor, has been rented to a third-party exhibitor. Even in this case, the exhibitor shall remain liable for all invoices.

The organiser may add to these rules if necessary by any means required in the interest of exhibitors and the show.

3. OBLIGATIONS

3.1 PRODUCTS

Unless specifically agreed otherwise beforehand, the exhibitor shall respect the product description selected by the organiser and shall not promote any products other than its own or those under licence nor make any direct or indirect advertising for the products of companies not exhibiting at the show. A detailed list of equipment, products and services exhibited may be requested by the organising committee. Registration for the show confers the right to a stand for the sole and exclusive use by the registered company. The presence of any other company on the stand should be requested on the registration form of the main exhibitor. Registration of associations or groups of professionals will be examined case by case by the organisers who reserve the right to refuse a registration request. Any exhibitor failing to respect these and any additional rules, namely regarding safety and in general, public order requirements applicable to the event, may have its participation cancelled without notice.

3.2 MISCELLANEOUS

The exhibitor expressly undertakes to occupy its stand for the whole duration of the Show at public opening times. Installation shall be complete at the opening of the exhibition and stands may not be dismantled until the closure of the Show.

Installation and dismantling times for the Show will be confirmed at a later date. Brochures may only be distributed on the stands.

All advertising and promotions must comply with the regulations in force. Under no circumstances should the use of audio or video equipment disturb other exhibitors, particularly due to excessive noise.

Any equipment belonging to the Parc des Expositions that is damaged or stolen from the stand will be invoiced to the exhibitor (in particular the electrical unit).

4. THE ORGANISER

4.1 ORGANISATION

The organiser shall determine the dates and venue for the event. In the event of force majeure, these dates and/or venues may be subject to change.

The organiser is responsible for allocating stands taking account of the layout, circulation and the technical constraints of the venue and the needs and requests of exhibitors. It reserves the right to make any necessary modifications to the layout.

Surfaces will be allocated as far as possible to meet requests. However, if the surfaces allocated are smaller than requested, the deposit will be changed accordingly.

Opening times will be decided by the organiser. The organiser will engage service providers for cleaning and security and shall be in charge of general safety of the Show.

4.2 INSURANCE

The organiser declares that it is covered by civil liability insurance for organisers. The organiser does not impose its own insurance company. Each exhibitor is free to take out any insurance it deems necessary (CL, theft, fire, etc.) from the company of its choice. Each of the parties shall waive all and any claims against the other for any damage caused by or to its property, except in the event of malicious intent.

Each of the parties undertakes to insert this clause in the insurance policies concerned.

The exhibitor shall provide a certificate of insurance with the registration form. The organiser should be informed of any incidents within 24 hours. Thefts must be declared to the Police.

4.3 STAND DESIGN

General decoration is done by the organiser. Exhibitors' stands delivered with equipment and decoration are contractual. Exhibitors wishing to make a specific stand should provide a layout before the opening. The organiser reserves the right to request any modifications for reasons of safety or compliance with the general decoration.

Service providers, decorators, installers and other companies working for the exhibitor must be covered against the inherent risks of their activity or their presence on site; each exhibitor shall ensure these companies are sufficiently covered.

The exhibitor and its contractors shall comply with the internal rules of the Parc des Expositions de Vannes, and shall in particular not damage the stand equipment made available.

The exhibitor shall be solely responsible for the delivery and exhibition of its equipment.

Exhibitors must be present at the visit of the safety committee and present any official documents (classification report) requested by it.
